“The Official Voice of Municipal Government in Indiana”

Huntingburg Mayor Denny Spinner Appointed to IACT Board of Directors

Indianapolis, IND. – The Indiana Association of Cities and Towns (IACT) announced today that Huntingburg Mayor Denny Spinner was recently appointed to the IACT Board of Directors.

“I am very excited about Mayor Spinner joining our Board of Directors. The Mayor has continually impressed me with his commitment to Huntingburg and passion for those he serves. His years of dedication to his community make him an ideal candidate to advocate on behalf of city and town leaders all across our state,” said IACT Executive Director Matt Greller. “Mayor Spinner has been a vocal supporter for more school resource officers and regularly emphasizes the important role city and town leaders play in providing the quality of life Hoosiers have grown to expect.”

Spinner fills a Board vacancy left by the resignation of Sellersburg Clerk Treasurer David Kinder. His term begins immediately and expires December 31, 2013.

“There is a history of Huntingburg’s mayor having meaningful involvement in IACT,” noted Mayor Spinner. “I am honored to continue this tradition by serving on the Association’s Board of Directors. Whether it’s advocating for more funding to improve our aging transportation infrastructure, urging flexibility for creating the kind of quality communities where businesses want to locate or insisting that municipal decisions belong at home, not Indianapolis, I’m eager to make a difference.”

Also recently appointed to the IACT Board of Directors was Evansville Mayor Lloyd Winnecke. Winnecke is filling a vacancy left by Terre Haute Mayor Duke Bennett who was named IACT 2nd Vice President in February.
